*Dedication - simple enough:
find a current in a hurricane sea.*

that sea - transformed every second by unnamed waves, ebbing and flowing ideas and action.

that sea - this university - liquid minds lapping, at times, in confusion at the dock of concrete futility.

*and that hurricane sea - forced to the shore by the things that are, transforms lapping confusion into forceful, flooding, spilling, churning action, and growth,
by-product of inspiration, emerges from the receding foam.*

*Brother Raymond Fleck, C.S.C., a current
in a hurricane sea . . .*

*Leadership - the rise and fall of men and their mountains is silent.
people may turn a head,- pretend or think they have seen him pass but they look on ahead - the sand of their mortality constantly slips from underfoot.*

Perserverance - when the free-lance mountains choose sides, and the valley of despair and confusion, which they refuse to overcome only serve to make the mountains seem higher yet.

ACADEMICS

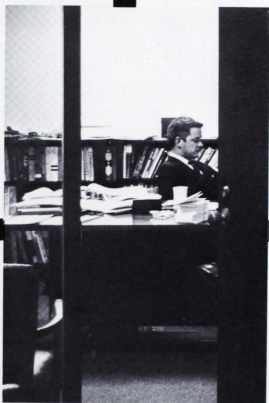

Business Administration

James C. Dunlap M.B.A. (center picture)
Chairman of the Business Administration Division

If it were true that the business of business is business, then schools like ours would merely train business majors to add and subtract, multiply and divide.
But the business of business is society — and now that society has started to realize that, it looks to business to help calculate its destiny

Humanities

Brother Reinald Duran, C.S.C., M.S. in Ed. (center picture) Chairman of the Humanities Division

To be able to tell the difference between propaganda and prophecy, plagiarism and paraphrase — to be able to use words significantly, meaningfully to expose superficiality; to be able to see that foreign words signify familiar forms; that the spoken word is a tool for transmission of intangible thoughts — and as this is the goal of the Humanities, this is also its promise.

Science

Brother Joseph Heisler, C.S.C., Ph.D. (center picture) Chairman of the Science Division

Truth is its own proof, but in a world of tangibilities, proof is a demanding word — it tears at the reality of things, probes our reason,
and, at times,
picks at our conscience.
A scientist forms his life around the reality of proof, and in a world of anti-truth, we watch the scientist slowly lose his mind with society's denial to prove itself.

Social Science

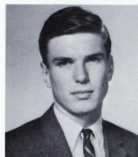

Brother Fabius Dunn, C.S.C., Ph.D. (center picture)
Chairman of the Social Science Division

This is the era of the social scientist — the social animal roars to be cleaned and fed and taught to operate in a ready-made though slightly ram-shackle world.
The danger
of the social scientist lies in his decisions of not only pointing the way but in "discovering" the way itself.
The common social animal must look to the way, consider the direction and ask himself, in his dumbness, if all the pointed fingers are not diverting attention from the road ahead.

Teacher Education

Brother Stephen Walsh, C.S.C., Ph.D.
(center picture)
Chairman of the division of Teacher Education

Any person who thinks he can teach is a person who thinks he has something that needs to be said, that there is something in his head never before unleashed upon society's closed mind.
And all too often a teacher becomes society's poor relation babbling about some better world or some better something.
And it is the fate of most teachers to die in the unsympathetic, though outstretched arms of a student's blank mind.
This is the time for a resurrection of the teaching profession — the rock of ignorance must be rolled back to allow the dead air of chambered minds
to escape;
somewhere,
the teaching profession is alive and well

The child's play
of education:

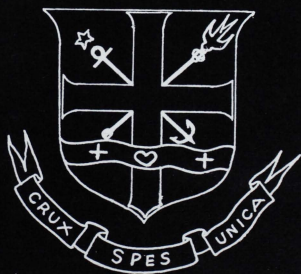

The process

given intellectual lincoln logs to build and re-build dreams of what should be; Erector sets of homework to tinker with our minds; And teddy bears of friendship to keep things worth our while.

And with all the other playthings To keep the world off our backs It seems to be our job
To see what the child's play lacks

STUDENT LIFE

IN MEMORIAM

I lost something today I turned around to watch the world go by and when I turned back it was gone.
It wasn't stolen,
No, I know it wasn't stolen—maybe it got swept up in the passing of time or was blown into the corner of eternity:
All I know is that it is gone and I miss it.
Maybe it was stolen after all,
Maybe some form of brutality came and carried it away; Maybe I should go find a strong friend to help me seek out and destroy the brutality of it all—Well, the Lord said He would find it if it ever became lost;
Have you found it, Lord?
Have you found it!?'—
Care for it Lord
Live with it for me . . .
And help me
to live with myself.

Mary Allen Clark

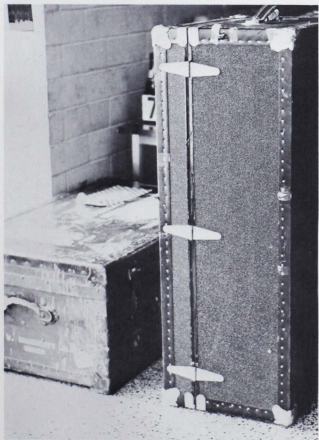

Mary Shannon Paulissen

I come from somewhere
 And my name is somebody
 And I want to learn—
 But I wish I knew what should and how much time I really have to learn it all.
 And there is more here
 And four years is not much time—

There is my lifetime
 And I know I must keep learning;
 . . . And at what time will my mind ever become full enough to educate itself?

The down-ness of up;
 . . . and there is water that turns to blood;
 and a chilling wind that carries the smell of spring; and tired feet and an aching back that rewards a job well done; A color of skin that no longer dreams of being white but demands to be itself; and a foolish system somehow allows itself to be squeezed, like the mediocre turnip that it is,
 and a drop of bloody meaningfulness flows onto strained, shaking, sweating hands —

Directed by Jerry Wisinski Produced by Jerry Gamez Scenery under the direction of Tom Galvin

And Fairy Tales will never be the same And Mother Goose never had it so good And due to a "black and beautiful"

Fairy Godmother
Cinderella went to the Ball And met a Prince who tiptoed through more than the tulips . . .
And therefore, the Cinderella characters captured
Campus Capers.

A Variety show needs variety: A few people who can do a lot with a lot of people who can do a little.
They're all willing to entertain,
And so they do
... And it's a success!

Do I hear twenty cents???

Do I hear thirty cents????

Sold to the gentlemen in the back for fifteen dollars!??

... And the image of the Maryhill women lay before the entire student body...

The slaves were sold
The slaves worked
The Sophomores filled their treasury And everyone enjoyed it ... And it proved a lot about that image!

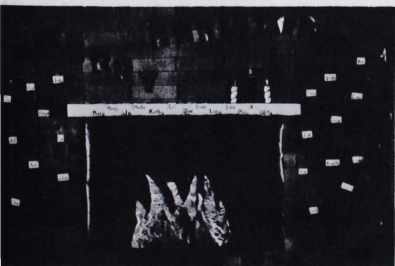

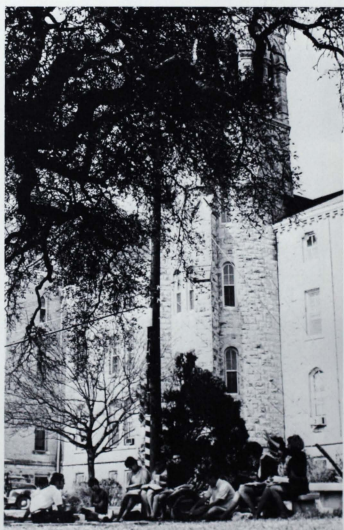

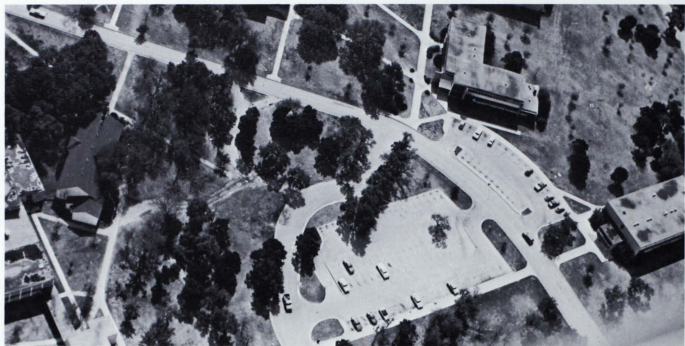

Christmas can be celebrated in many different ways, in many different places.
It really doesn't matter how we go about the Season.
What matters is that Christ was born; That's why we have a choice.
He had to come, the way He did, Just as we have to do the things we do — Or is it
Just the same?

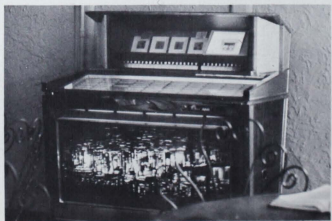

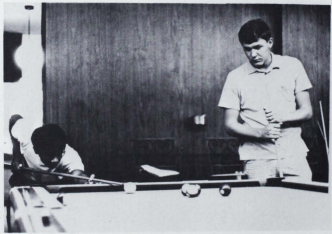

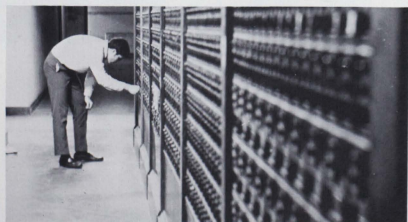

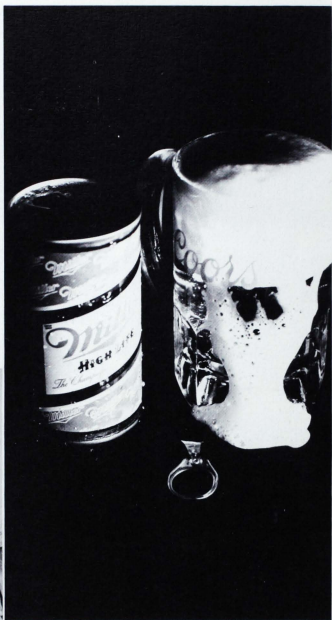

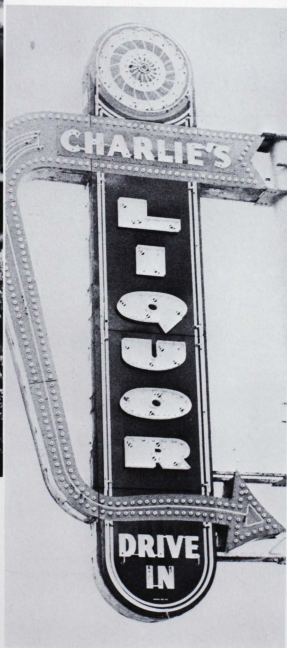

In winter
the door crashes upon itself, In spring
the door crashes against the wall; Music from the juke box creeps a few feet outside whether the door is opened or closed.
The noise of people smashes against your mind—talking, whispers Telling, gossip,
"I'll go nullo,"
"You'll get set"—
"Let's just play eight ball"— and the pin ball machines clang and the flippers clank—
"Play G-1, and J-3, and M-5;" and the music starts again—and the cigarettes go into long ashes and the ashes go everywhere.

During the day there is a sense of false happiness, of false relief—
There is a semi-escape both from class, and from the Sameness of a room too long lived in;
and sometimes lips move with the music's words and maybe two people's eyes meet and there is a very, very faint hint of a beautiful tomorrow—although tomorrow will be just the Same and everybody in the room has a sickness fall to their stomachs because they know their hopes for tomorrow are only unkept promises to get them through today.
Some have real dreams, and a sense of reality about today and about today's people, but they, sometimes all too easily, fall prey to emptiness, and the easiness of boredom that seems to surround most of us.
And the door slams against itself in winter, and against the wall when spring comes . . .

St. Ed's for some is a coke bottle world, each day uncapped, each day a little spill out, each day a little taste, each day the contents get a little flatter, one day left on the window sill, one day left to spoil and maybe one day

St. Ed's becomes an empty bottle either knocked over and broken or redeemed for a two cent deposit.
For others,

St. Ed's, this bottle of coke, can be an addictive to rum or bourbon, or it can be taken
