DEDICATION

This "Dedication" is most significant because an honor is being accorded to a truly dedicated man. St. Edward's growing stature is due in no small part to Brother Romard's generous forgetfulness of self as teacher, rector, councilor, and Brother of Holy Cross.

It is certain that he is not typical of the fearful individual who buried his talent. Brother Romard's abilities and interests are a source of amazement. One never knows what new facet will next manifest itself. His students are quick to recognize him as something special as a patient, understanding teacher, but his diversified "extra-curricular" activities come as a surprise to them.

In the afternoon he could be in a physics lab from one till three; from three till four he could be playing a sharp game of tennis or demonstrating his dead-eye on the basketball court; and from four till five he could be directing a choir rehearsal. A ready wit and personal charm permeate all he does; they are downright infectious. And through all his activities shines an image of a faithful, edifying Brother of Holy Cross.

There is mighty little we can do to show our esteem and appreciation; there is but small material compensation for work well-done. Therefore, St. Edward's student body and alumni will be happy to share in dedicating the 1961 Tower to Brother Romard, a truly dedicated Brother of Holy Cross.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Commencement Day, 1961

Dear Edsman of the Class of 1961:

Your college career was inaugurated auspiciously enough, four years ago, with the launching of the first artificial satellite into an orbit around the earth.

These first four years of the Space Age have been marked by other less spectacular but sometimes equally important changes. Colonial empires of centuries' standing have melted away and new nations have emerged at an unprecedented rate. The reindustrialization of West Germany and Japan is reversing America's balance of world trade. Automation is bringing about a new industrial revolution. The international deployment of atomic weapons raises new questions about the survival of the human race.

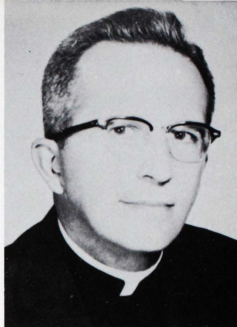

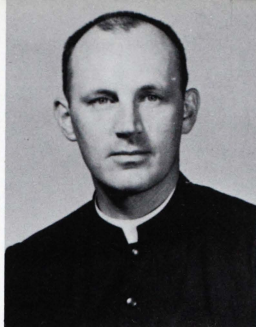

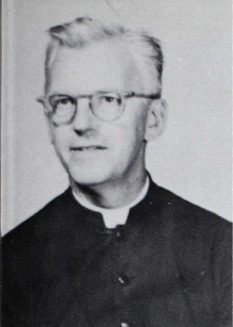

These and other problems of greater or lesser moment challenge us in this changing world. New problems call for new solutions; new emphases demand new techniques. Had you come to college merely for exercise in problem solving and technical training, your college education would already be outdated in 1961 - and who can imagine the problems and emphases that will confront us in ten or twenty years?

You are fortunate that yours has been a liberal education. With deep roots in the unchanging principles of God, man and society and a grasp of the basic principles of your chosen profession, you have not ignored the questions posed by the changing scene of the past four years. Together with your teachers and your fellow students, you have applied your newly acquired knowledge to contemporary affairs. But we trust that you realize that even these were only passing applications of the principles, and that you will be called upon in the future to make new but valid applications to novel problems and shifting emphases.

Society will not reach perfection in our lifetime, nor in that of your children. But the leaders in society's march toward that goal will be men who have been educated as you have been at St. Edward's. That you will rise to this challenge of leadership is our sincerest hope, as you take your leave of the Hilltop Campus.

DOYLE HALL DEDICATION

Benefactress, Mrs. Mary Doyle, from an old print in the University archives.

The new school year began auspiciously with the dedication, on St. Edward's Day, October 13, of the new Doyle Hall, a residence for 150 incoming Freshmen.

The new hall was named in honor of Mrs. Mary Doyle who, in 1876, gave a large tract of adjoining property to the Congregation of Holy Cross, for the purpose of Catholic education in the Austin area.

Now, many years later, Mrs. Doyle's gift is continuing to fructify, and this new building is a living memorial to her generosity and her farsighted view of the future spread of Christ's Kingdom, through the vital area of Catholic education. The present generation is reaping where she, and others, have sown on the campus.

This new unit will keep alive for many generations of St. Edward's students, Mrs. Doyle's generous contribution to their future.

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine is a club on campus that subscribes to the saying in Scripture, "Go ye forth and teach ye all nations." The club's main purpose is to aid in teaching Catechism, mainly among Spanish-Americans, to Catholic children attending public schools.

The club is affiliated with the National Confraternity of Christian Doctrine Organization and the students who teach are required to take a course in teaching methods. The students who participate in the teaching program receive very little recognition and their only reward is their realization that they are carrying on the tradition of the Apostles.

The Social Order Council is the organized attempt of St. Edward's students to further interest in current social and world problems as they are reflected in contemporary affairs.

Segregation, the Youth Corps, Government and Business, Labor legislation, etc., are some of the topics the group dealt with in the past year.

The National Federation of Catholic College Students is one of the most valuable campus organizations.

Their projects included collecting money for the Formosan Project, a national effort among Catholic college students to build a Catholic college on Formosa, headed by Ron Wallace; dialog Masses, promoted by Joe Head; Communism's danger, shown by a film-lecture series, initiated by Rudy Vita; and other business-entertainment gatherings.

Vic Kramer was their energetic president, and Fr. Bailey their moderator.

Alumni Memorial Mass.

This year's Alumni Reunion was the biggest yet—in numbers, in enthusiasm, and in plans for the future.

The Alumni Memorial Mass and Communion breakfast were followed by business meetings, a social hour, a dance, and a banquet.

Mr. Burke O'Rourke was named the new President; Wooten Young, new Vice-President; Brother Hugo Ellis, old and new Secretary-Treasurer.

For the first time the ladies met in special session for a White Elephant sale, an experiment in acquaintanceship and conviviality. Operation most successful.

St. Edward's Alumni are not only her pride and joy, but her fondest hope for a future full of progress and development, a greater St. Edward's.

New regional units reported from Dallas, Ft. Worth, Houston, Galveston, Corpus Christi, and McAllen, the most exciting Alumni news of the Year.
