the paradox of st. edward's is that at times it is concrete and rock a stoic old building a living antique
a monument to the past.
it is also very dry sometimes too much make-up plasters its exterior
but still,
it is a campus in the making;
it emerges just long enough to be seen through the mist of 1967.
it is yawning,
but it is the yawn of awakening.
st. edward's takes the form of a middle-aged man, there is still sleep in his eyes there is still much to be done.
there are children
and they are his life -- he would crumble and despair without them.
his wife is very young
she is fair and firm and acquires grace with each passing day -- alice k. east hall
stands now firmly planted as yet, unblemished,
before her stands the awesomeness of the coming years.
there is growth in this family!
the new co-mingles with the old the traditional with the evolutionary the day in with the year out the build up with the tear down the fall down with the stand up -- and it all happens . . .

austin,

not home,
a residence,
a presence,
four years
or one semester;
limitations,
drawbacks,

setbacks,
good times
and bad;
but we are here
and something
must be done
with this time:
throw it away,
draw it near--
it's ours
only for a time . . .

we now stand in the shadow of our future place in the sun.
we are overpowered, many times,
by the ideas of islands,
the others around us.
we are determined to grow --
to gain footholds
on others' shores . . .

if lives were houses,
no door would be closed to us though it be locked.
and
if life were a department store,
talk would be our charge,
understanding our account, and the lack of any one -- our damnation . . .

there is a mountain range of people.

important as it is
to examine close up,
it is comforting to see
at a distance
the beautiful oneness . . .

we sometimes think
we must find ourselves, as though we were lost;
but most times
we are just hiding --
from ourselves
and from others.
when we find
that there are others,
we find shadows
of where we have been,
evidences of something
that is us . . .

time must be taken to invent,
reproduce,
recreate,

in some form,
at odd times;
it takes no effort.
some work at it,

and must be walked through

... but we are here
and something
with this time ...

st. edward's is
a campus,
a state of mind
moody hall,
and a six-pack of beer;
doyle, east, andre,
premont, holy cross
seton and sorin,
and gags, talk, blasting radios,
study, television,
quiet contemplation, cards;
twisting streets,
and tired feet;
hurricanes of ideas,
and becalmed nights of sleep and, above all,
st. edward's is
ours . . .

east hall
was once
about as feminine
as a cement bag.
but,
as happens in time,
slush becomes symmetry
just as
girls become women.

we stand now
in the midst of
ourselves.
where we once gaped
at moody hall,
we are now a part
of it.
we wear
as does the castle;
we solidify
our friendships
our ideals
our aspirations.
we settle
and
are settled upon.
our minds become more
files of knowledge and less
intellectual garbage cans.
we came as one of many.
we leave
one from many . . .

a modern university takes many forms. it needs the faculty, the administration, the physical plant and above all else, the students. education is St. Edward's only product. but the input is always greater than the output. thought is essential in planning a greater SEU. so we think. Brother Raymond thinks yet depends upon the administration who thinks yet who depends upon the faculty to think who depends upon the students to think. thinking takes many forms. organized meetings are essential at SEU.

administration meetings began in August and continue until June. These meetings begin early in the morning and continue late in the evenings all year long. The meetings are all to better the research methods, the student welfare, the great physical plant, the budget, the everything at SEU.

therefore the Academic Council, the Administrative Council, the Athletic Board, the committee on Admissions, the Board of Student Publications, the Council on Student life, the Budget Committee, and the Board of Review. These are the backbone of the university. These are the thinkers, the planners, the doers whose only objective is a greater St. Edward's.

the faculty, too, must meet, plan, and do.

the coordinate college system here at SEU must think together. Faculty meetings are held to keep the faculty up-to-date in the latest publications and teaching methods.

a faculty committee of the Executive Committee of the Faculty Collegium is pertinent in this respect. The Library Committee decides what books are needed to keep a well informed and educated faculty and student body. The Committee on speakers and Programs directs programs which will bring important people or events to enrich St. Edward's throughout.

Maryhill College and St. Edward's University also see that faculty representatives are present at faculty meetings around the country in order to bring up-to-datedness to the Hilltop.

thought and planning must be expressed verbally as well as vocally. At St. Ed's there are many media through which ideas can be expressed.

Alumni News Letter informs the alumni of changes at SEU. The University Calendar reminds and informs everyone in the SEU community of up and coming events. The Hilltopper is the student newspaper through which student news and views are published weekly. Richard McIntyre edited the Hilltopper the first semester and has been followed by Mike Cinal for the remainder of 1967.

John McCann edited the Writing Magazine which is a literary magazine published each spring and which provides an outlet for prose, poetry, art, and photography.

the Brothers in Vincent Hall publish a quarterly providing an outlet for scholastic news. It is called the Scholatest.

the Student Handbook and General Bulletin are published annually for the information of students and prospective Edsmen as a record of academic, social, athletic, and official standards and courses offered.

the Photography department headed by Ray Spinhirne, provide the University with photography required to meet publication needs. the Rally Committee paints murals and signs which inform Edsmen of coming events.

publications are the means by which thoughts and ideas are expressed at St. Edward's and at SEU the job is always well done.

the thinking process,
besides being concerned
with
what we are thinking about, perhaps deals more
with
who we are thinking for:
be it ourselves,
a student body,
a nation,
or the world.
thinking demands decisions,
and
decisions demand responsibility.

one of the main functions of the school system
is to plan
students' thinking;
not to think for us,
but
to give our thoughts
a place to work.
we must reach out
from the inside,
but
we must first be
inside.

time spent alone
is time spent in and out
of this world.
we think
with our eyes open,
and we are still
dreaming.
with a friend,
thinking spent alone
is a
discredit
to the whole process.

happiness must be
knowing that someone else is thinking about you.
a letter or a call
to or from home
must be direct rewards
of the thought process.
parents and teachers
have one thought in mind:
that one day
you will be able to think for yourself.

the priests of St. Ed's, our spiritual trustees,
prepare from the then
the thoughts for the now.
they must sometimes do it
alone,
and we must sometimes
consider these thoughts
alone.

we talk

perhaps more than answers
we want

this is the education process.
though not always serious,
nor studious,
we must,
at one time or other,
find out
what the books are trying to say, what lecture notes are really all about.
in education
we must sometimes
stop,
and
talk to ourselves.

The Beanie Bowl means a lot to Brother Charlie. During Orientation week getting a solid footing in the strange Texas soil and at SEU means just as much to these frosh as it did to the ninety some odd frosh classes who preceded this year's.

Campus Capers

When fall work-outs began in September, expectations were that the Hilltoppers would have a far greater team than the previous year's squad. Returning lettermen included Jeff Burns, Jack Tanny, Mike Otolski, George Grzegorek, Mike Canfield and Tom Berry. Bolstering the depth of the Edsmen were Sophomores Mike Seale, Mike Jensen, Johnny Wells and senior Carl Stepien. The outlook was certainly optimistic for a successful season.

Shooting percentages were near 50 percent for the entire squad but the oppositions were also high. The first two games found the Hilltoppers plagued with injuries and fouls lost their only home game of the season to Sam Houston State 75-65. At Corpus Christi, the Hilltoppers experienced the same situation, and the Tarpons of UCC beat the Austinites, 77-66.

However, the slow start turned into a successful finish before the Christmas vacation. John Wells poured in 25 points and defense was superb as the SEU quintet walloped the Tarleton Texans to the tune of 75-59. The winning note continued with a victory over Big State foe Southwestern University, 59-56.

Otolski and Canfield both hit double figures in the win. The Goats then avenged the previous loss to UCC 88-76. Otolski and Wells combined for 49 points between them to capture the win.

Prairie View also learned that the Hilltoppers are all but infallible on the Memorial Gym court. The Panthers were on the short side of a 88-72 final score. Tarleton once again was pounded by the Toppers 65-56 at Austin. But at Seguin, the Edsmen proved that they were ready for a vacation as they were blasted by TLC 77-50.

With a Big State Conference record of one win and one loss, the Edsmen returned refreshed and ready to take the championship. St. Mary's crew came chanting the usual chauvinistic proclamation "we're number one." Coach Beck had a surprise for the "Vile Reptiles" who were facing the four-out delay game. Big Doug Williams was stifled as little Johnny Wells was everywhere and the ball was always in the hoop. The Hilltoppers won 55-44 and for that week we were number one.

Just as SEU could not be beaten at home, they had just as much difficulty winning on the road.

East Texas Baptist turned back SEU 64-51. It took the home court to revive winning spirits. TWC found the hitting and passing of SEU impossible to restrain as they were soundly beaten 88-70.

ETBC came to Austin and returned to Marshall beaten 65-59. St. Mary's proved too much at San Antonio. The Rattlers did not allow the Goats to use their foul-out method and the Edsmen were defeated 67-57.

The season was successful. Four Seniors played their last game at SEU and all contributed to the final 74-58 drubbing of TLC. Otolski, Canfield and Wells were all members of the All Conference team. All three averaged over 13 points per game.

Spring training came early for last year's Big State Conference and NAIA District Champions. Coach Tom Hamilton worked the Hilltoppers hard for their opener with the Texas Aggies. Sore arms and pulled muscles were commonplace. Hampered by injury and error, the Edsmen were soundly defeated by the Brazos boys 8-5. The Bears of Baylor defeated the Hilltoppers three days later at Disch Field by the score of 7-0.

But the heavy bats of George Grzegorek and Mike Otolski lifted the Toppers past SWTSC 15-14 as SEU gained its first victory of the campaign. Errors hurt the SEU effort at San Antonio against Trinity as Trinity beat SEU 7-4. Pitching, fielding and hitting were all coordinated by the time SEU met and defeated Southwestern 5-0. Bob Trevino's homerun opened a big inning against the US Air Force Academy. Mike Seale pitched the Hilltoppers past the Cadets 4-0. SEU also avenged the earlier defeat to Baylor 6-1 behind the outstanding team effort at Waco.

After the Easter break, the team had only a few days to prepare for a heavy schedule against Indiana, Kansas, Wisconsin, Arkansas, and the Big State Conference foes. SEU was the early favorite to win the conference but the Rattlers of St. Marys, and the Bulldogs of Texas Lutheran College were also strong contenders. Returning lettermen Mike Otolski, Chuck Budde, George Grzegorek, Bob Trevino, Manny Rosales, Jack Frels, Jim Marek, Mike Seale, and NAIA District Coach of the Year Tom Hamilton were the reasons behind the success of 1967.

Varsity Tennis

For nine months each year, Brother Emmett Strohmeier, CSC, holds down the position as manager of the bookstore. In addition he is custodian of the varsity tennis courts. But Brother Emmett does not tire easily. He has plenty of energy in reserve so that he can coach the Hilltoppers to their seventh consecutive Big State Conference championship. He has four fine court masters returning in Werner Braun, Les Marias, Tom Farrell, and Bob Murphy.

The loss of Julio Rojas, who terrorized courts from coast to coast while at SEU, was a great one indeed. However the returning men have proven in the past that they are able to hold the winning tradition at SEU despite the loss of the outstanding Rojas last season. Werner Braun and Les Marias team up to make up a very strong twosome. Both are strong in singles as are both Murphy and Farrell. The season should prove to be a very successful one.

Varsity Golf

Father Barron, O.P. took over as golf coach this season. Three strong lettermen returned from last year's team, Bill Van Buskirk, Pat Lessner, and Mike Walsh. All have improved their scores since last fall as the Hilltoppers beat Southwestern twice. A heavy schedule is on slate but the Hilltoppers should stay close to the pack. The first meet was at the Morris Williams Inter-collegiate in Austin. National champions, the University of Houston Cougars set the pace but were closely pursued by Texas, Oklahoma, Baylor, and St. Edward's University.

SEU vs. Texas Lutheran College at Austin

SEU vs. Texas Wesleyan College at Fort Worth

SEU at Big State Conference Tournament, Ft. Worth

Track

The SEU thinclads began preparing to retake the Big State Conference title in early February. John Lucas has returned to the Hilltop to coach the track team. In the first meet at the Sam Houston State relays, the Edsmen scored in every event and produced the highest team scoring effort in recent history at SEU. The 440 relay team, Tom Drobyski, Dale Lawrence, Rich Fairhurst, and Joe Durney, almost upset the fast Stephen F. Austin team. They placed second. SEU will face tough competition at the Border Olympics, TLC relays, SWTSC relays, and most important in the Big State Conference meet in Fort Worth, May 3-4.

- 9—Ghosts, 4-5
- 10—Tigers, 3-6

Intramural football began enthusiastically after the Freshmen tied the Sophs in the Beanie Bowl, 2-2. The champions of the last two campaigns, the Wildcats, adopted a new name, the Coyotes, but their winning ways continued under the leadership of Tom Cirkal and the teammates, Dave Risher, Jack Frels, Jim Marik and company. Also strong in the competition were the Ghosts and the Animals. The Animals went all the way to the finals undefeated to meet a superb Coyote team. In that final, the Coyotes squeezed out a 15-7 victory. Chuck Budde led the league in scoring once again aiding the Coyotes to victory over such names as the Chickens, the Cunning Runts, the Appendixes and Aardvarks.

Intramural Basketball

The intramural cage season at SEU was the most exciting ever. Every dorm floor fielded a quintet and each labeled themselves with an exciting name. The Gross Dozen, the Electrical Bananas, the Knickerbockers, the Cardinals and the Stinky Dinks were new names in the intramural program. But the Hawks were back and were as competitive as ever. When the playoffs began, only the Cardinals, Electrical Bananas, Hawks, and Knicks remained. The Cards made the Hawks eat Crow and the Knicks shocked the Electrical Bananas in the first round. In the championship match, the Cards retained the title for Holy Cross Hall as they defeated the Knicks 52-49.

Post season frolics continued in a double header. The faculty beat the students 43-40 and the Mary Hill "Mollies" ran past the Freshmen 43-38 in the night cap.

Intramural Softball

It is generally believed that when winter turns to spring, young men's hearts at St. Edward's turn to love. But their hearts turn to many other interests. Among these interests is intramural softball. Each floor of each dorm recruits Little League heroes of days gone by and they all sit down to decide what they will call their team. The selection of names is almost as competitive as the games themselves. Play begins in early March and is usually concluded by the end of April.

Intramural Soccer

"In Latin America and in the whole world it is the biggest thing." So Enrique Melguizo describes the importance of soccer. The team formed last fall by the ILAC Club proved its effectiveness and that the talent to field a good team is present at St. Ed's. They beat St. Stephens. They plan to schedule games next fall with A&M, Texas and Houston along with St. Mary's and Trinity.

we all
make our special kind
of poetry.
it is unconscious,
unplanned,
and,
flows as freely
from us
as does a leaf down a stream.
our poetry
comes from
what we have learned
and
what we have yet
to learn . . .

... at times,
we become that leaf;
alone,
ourselves,
as perhaps
no one should ever
know us.
but,
except for a very few lines, we can no more hide what we are,
than we can predict
what we will become.

music,
among other obvious facts,
is poetry.
we create it,
play it,
as we know best.
we can scream it,
whisper it —
it lets others
understand a part,
a small bit,
of what we are:
of what we can only be.

people,
in the everyday,
play their own special songs.
some listen,
some turn away,
some cast first stones,
some join and harmonize.
we can only live
comfortably
with those who join and harmonize.

we get our kicks
when we can get away
from all the hard knocks.
we have a good time
the further away we get from calendars.
we have our times in hell,
but,
we can
and do
have fun —

or we go away,
to hide ourselves
in a human masquerade

at the beginning
of the year,
around the middle
and
at a few times in between, St. Ed's asks for talent — talent from people who think they are good
and those who really are . . .

they ended up with those who
really are.

under the direction
of
Mr. Edward Mangum,
Moby Dick -- Rehearsed,
a two act play
by Orson Wells,
began the 1967
Festival of the Arts.
The stage platforms,
pieced together by Brother Reginald Jacques, CSC, were under the direction of Al Julian and John Farrin from then on.
Not unlike the platforms,
an original musical score was constructed by Pat DeBlanc.
Assimilar to the stage
and the music,
Mr. Mangum had his cast,
and his play.

sang her heart out.
it was as packed an audience as the performance was good.

FOURTH BIENNIAL ART EXHIBIT

throughout the Festival of the Arts, there was a showing of paintings by Wall Conoly one-hundred and fifty prize winning photographs under the direction of (Mrs.) Elizabeth Strom, the fourth biennial Brothers of Holy Cross Exhibit of art in canvass and clay and wood and a little bit of everything else, and an exhibit of student work in art class.

it is spring
and suddenly
it is almost summer
and
so too
goes the whole year.
there will be times
to remember
with contempt
or maybe with a tear or maybe not at all . . .

we have given you
the 1967 Tower,
it has been
a sometimes tedious,
sometimes tiresome,
sometimes rewarding
effort.
we would like to acknowledge
Major Victor Toth
for his more than excellent photography —
Of Mice and Men,
and
Mrs. Elizabeth Strom,
were it also not for the efforts of
Ray Spinhirne,
Daryl Vargyas,
Hank Keller,
and
Dick Mac Intyre
pictures for this issue
would have been
a complete waste of time.
also,
we would like to thank
and congratulate
Mr. John Sandidge,
Henington Publishers
representatives.
above all,
and with no hesitation whatever,
we would like to say that without the presence of Brother Dunstan Bowles, CSC,
this issue of the Tower
would have been
completely impossible.
